not undertake the continued irrigation of the Imperial valley or assume further responsibility for its protection. He contends that it has already cost the road five million. However, if the government continues its policy of protection he is willing to recommend to the board of directors that two and a half million bonds be taken up to provide for the development of 125,000 additional acres.

MEETING OF MAGNATES.

Santa Barbara, Feb. 24.—A conference between President Lovett of the Southern Pacific and President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe will be held here next Wednesday at the winter home of Mr. Ripley.

It is expected that various phases of the railroad situation, growing out of the interstate commerce commission rate decision, will be discussed. It is also said that a union depot for Los Angeles will be considered.

THE LOGICAL END.

Head of the Mine Workers of the I. C. C. Decision.

Wheeling, Feb. 24.—President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, is apprehensive that the decision of the Interstate commerce commission in the matter of railroad rates is too sweeping. In discussing the matter tonight he expressed the opinion that a dangerous precedent has been established.

He argued that if the commission has a right to say what the railroad rates should be, it would be wholly in order to create another commission to prevent the United States Steel corporation from increasing the prices of any of its products, the Standard Oil company and the millers of the northwest as well.

All of which he said, would lead up to a similar right to prevent the workmen of the country from demanding increased pay.

CHOLERA BREAKS OUT IN HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Two Deaths at Honolulu Reported Yesterday.

Honolulu, Feb. 24.—Two cases of cholera were discovered in Honolulu today. The first was that of a Hawaiian woman living in a tenement house, who was taken sick yesterday at noon and died twelve hours later. The second victim is the woman's father, living in the same house, who is dying.

The territorial board of health immediately issued stringent orders stopping all fishing for the market in these waters and all bathing at the various beaches. It is stated by the president of the board of health that these steps were probably unnecessary, but that it was decided to take drastic precautionary measures.

The belief is expressed that the cases are sporadic. A rigid quarantine of all persons who came in contact with the two cases has been established. The husband of the woman who died is a stevedore.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE BLOCKED BY SIGHT OF HAREM SKIRT

More Excitement Than Has Recently Broken Out in New York.

New York, Feb. 24.—Brooklyn bridge broke its record as a scene of daredevil exploits today. A suicide or professional bridge jumper never thrilled the throng of bridge promoters more than did the appearance of a dashing young blonde on the great thoroughfare late this afternoon. She was attired in the new harem skirt—the first of the millions of New York women publicly to venture the new affectation of men's clothes which has stirred continental cities to school house lectures, you emphasize riot. It nearly came to that on the bridge.

Pedestrian traffic was blocked by the crowd which collected in her wake and followed her bold lead right into Newspaper Row. Postoffice Square and down Broadway, finally vanishing into the underground station of the Hudson tubes. The boldness of newspaper reporters "fell down" on the story, all balking at the suggestion that some one inquire the heroine's name.

There were few who even observed the detail that she was a blonde, that her eyes were blue and that she wore a black fur coat. The focus of attention was on the split skirt reaching a little below the knees, disclosing black, bloomers-like contrivances, tightly gathered up about the ankles.

THE BEEF TRUST.

Australia Will Put a Crimp Into It.

London, Feb. 24.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Melbourne says the federal minister of trade and customs declares that the Australian commonwealth will spare no expense to "oppose the sinister operations" of the American meat trust in seeking to control the Australian trade.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Republican: Sir—Notwithstanding the advertising Phoenix and the Salt River valley may have had in the past, it is possible to still make an improvement upon what has been done. I notice an inquiry from an Idaho man demanding information concerning Phoenix and surrounding locality. The formal representations and dissemination of descriptive literature by the board of trade pertaining to the advantages of this country have been excellent, yet still more can be done with good results.

There is nothing like a public lecture or a personal interview, wherein its many advantages touching fertility of soil, climatic conditions, cereal productions, citrus and vegetable growth, can be shown in detail and made obviously attractive in the way of health and pecuniary success. By personal interviews, crossroads and school house lectures, you emphasize your advertisements in a manner more reliable and convincing than by any other method. If you are face to face with the parties, enthusiastic in your efforts, qualified and full of matter, and will unquestionably do more good and valuable service to the Salt River valley than mere literature or paper advertisements can comprehend. A man that buys a farm in the valley and tills the same adds taxes to the territory, aids in its upbuilding, gives patronage to the merchants, is a figure of untold advantage and permanent good, and, if his efforts meet with success, is sure to be followed by his neighbors from the vicinity from which he emigrated. Why cannot the reality and business men get together and send a qualified man into the states where his efforts, talks and lectures in the thick agricultural districts would do the most good, and at the same time disseminate literature and answer practical and pertinent questions pertaining to this country?

Among the numerous real estate and business men and the enterprising land holders, the pro rata expense would be extremely nominal, and the result of incalculable benefit. A merchant sends his commercial traveler abroad to secure patronage, and the expense is not serious. Why will it not also apply to the suggestion above?

Do not think for a moment that I am presumptuous in making this suggestion, or that I am a stranger to your needs. I have been in Phoenix nearly three years, and know whereof I speak. I am posted touching its excellent citizenship, its agricultural resources, its educational facilities, its climatic advantages, its products and irrigation system, and I know an advertising scheme of this kind would be fruitful of practical results.

Now, I would like to hear from prominent real estate men and learn if this suggestion meets with their approval or is worthy of consideration, and if a canvass of real estate and business men along these lines would be appropriate.

Respectfully,
W.M. D. SIMPSON.

THE SEWER BONDS—Territorial Secretary George U. Young received a private letter yesterday from a friend in Washington who takes a lively interest in Arizona affairs. The letter stated that in the writer's opinion the mission of Mayor Lloyd B. Christy to Washington would be ineffectual through Mr. Christy has done his part. The sentiment of the legislators, said the letter, was very favorable to the request of Phoenix, to use a portion of the sewer bonds for the purchase of the old plant, but the indications were that the end of the session is so near at hand it will be impossible to secure a vote on the measure. There are so many things of greater concern to congress, that Phoenix will most likely have to wait.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

H. D. Hutt of Chicago occupied a comfortable room at the Ford the other night, and considers Phoenix the greatest town in Arizona, for that reason, if for no other, with which magnificent remark there is a tale connected. The story is this: His business called him to Flagstaff where he found the hotels jam full, and he only found repose at last by going to bed in a granary. The gnawing mice worried him that night beyond expression. He said nothing. He complained not. He endured patiently. A few days later he found himself at Winkelman. Again the hotels were full and he had the felicity of passing the night in a tent, through the open flap of which a perambulating burro protected his head at midnight, which untimely intrusion was accompanied most harmoniously with a musical bray. Still Mr. Hutt said nothing. He was still loyal to Arizona, too loyal to criticize his accommodations. But—here is the climax—the cup of privation was filled to overflowing when he was put to bed in a paint shop. Ray where he breathed so much turpentine, and inhaled so much lead through performing the natural and necessary process of respiration that his breath still has the odor of a new and undried fresco. Mr. Hutt left this morning for Berkeley, California, blessing Al Williams for furnishing him with a real, A No. 1 bed room. Mr. Hutt will have the sympathy of everyone who reads this item, and Arizonians will have a secret gratification over the cause of his restless and uncomfortable nights. Full hotels mean prosperity, and every Arizona citizen wants to see the territory grow.

The Golden State Limited of the Rock Island was held up for twenty-four hours at Pratt, Kansas, early in the week, and on one of the parlor cars a soiree was held which equaled in repartee and conversation the famous salons of the Grande Monarch. A Kansas lawyer, several notable society people from the eastern states, and H. L. Draper of Chicago made up the party, who made the best of the enforced stopover by enjoying each others society. Mr. Draper arrived in Phoenix last Wednesday and registered at the Adams Ann x. He leaves this morning to visit the Grand Canyon, but will return to the capital in a few days. Mr. Draper is the secretary and treasurer of the Cable Piano company of Chicago, and is a cousin of Sam Dunlap. Everybody knows Sam.

W. D. O'Neill of the L. C. Smith Typewriter company arrived in Phoenix last evening from Nogales where he reported sales good. The Mexicans are given over these days to literary pursuits, composing proclamations, and superheated annunciations, and in consequence must have typewriters. The repair department will probably have a good deal of work to do on their machines down in that country before long, for is it possible that these expellives and sulphurous messages can be turned from a machine without melting the type? One has to shudder when the thought of the things those typewriters will have to write are brought to mind. Battles will be fought on their keyboards, and myriads of soldiers sacrificed. Governments will be established and fall again. The world will be revolutionized, and—what's the use. The machines are there to use as they will. Mr. O'Neill stops at the Ford hotel.

H. A. Thompson arrived from Kansas City last night and registered at the Adams Annex. Mr. Thompson is a special agent of the Department of Justice and came for the purpose of consulting with the members of the department in regard to matters which have been referred to them for adjustment.

A gentleman who stopped at one of the Phoenix hotels a few weeks ago told a true, and very amusing story of an experience which he had several months ago with the Mexican custom authorities on a pleasure excursion made over the border from El Paso. While on the Mexican side of the line his eye was taken by a bright silk shawl which he purchased for $15.00. Not wishing to surrender the duty on this article, and it being such an apparently simple matter to wrap the shawl around his body under his vest, he decided to outwit the authorities and duplicate the performance of so many home-coming travelers from Europe. But Elhue! (which means alas). The Mexican inspectors knew a thing or two, found the shawl under his vest, and he languished in jail during the space of three days, and had to surrender currency sufficient to buy half a dozen shawls to pay his fine before he walked on his native soil again. Served him right. He admitted that himself, and took the unpleasant consequence of his little excursion like a good fellow.

"THE SQUAW MAN."

At last we are to see "The Squaw Man," unquestionably the most strikingly original dramatic success an American playwright has yet achieved. This is welcome news to all lovers of really good drama; there is no play in the history of the American stage that has won so large a measure of artistic as well as financial success as has this picturesque and beautifully written drama of virile American life, from the pen of Edwin Milton Royle. "The Squaw Man" has been hailed by many as the long awaited "Great American Play." The management of the Elks theater is to be congratulated upon securing this splendid attraction. The play will be presented under the direction of H. E. Pierce and company on Tuesday, February 28, with a superb company, and the entire production with a complete scenic equipment precisely as presented during the phenomenal engagement of one thousand performances in New York city.
